Mrs. E. P. Bement
Easthampton, Mass.

Dear Mrs. Bement:-

My calculations, given to you in my letter of Aug. 31st, as to Matthew Clark being the son of Benoni, Capt. William, Lieut. William, have been rudely upset.

Strong history gave the children of Benoni as:

Sarah, Zerviah, Eleazer, Hannah, Miriam, Benoni, Matthew, Ephraim, Sibyl, John, Rhoda, Thomas.

I find the will of Benoni Clark, dated Feb. 22 1762, probated Feb. 23 1769, mentions:--

6-84 GC
Wife, Hannah (Hannah Root); "heirs of my son Benoni, (Benoni m. Ruth Carpenter, and he died previous to the death of his father, leaving three sons); sons Eleazer and John- Thomas the youngest son died early - so this takes care of the wife and sons. Then he mentions, Sarah Lamphear, Hannah Collins, Miriam Allen, Martha Buckingham, Experience Downer, Sybbel Waterman, and Rhoda Clark - this takes care of all the daughters - so that it looks like the twins Matthew and Ephraim, were really Martha and Experience. Zerviah died young. I have no record of another Matthew Clark who would have been young enough to have married Sarah Clark in 1754 and to have had a son Lyman Clark born 1755.

Matthew Clark, the son of David, who married Irene Strong, was born 1761. He had a son Matthew born 1800 - but I do not know whom the latter married. Am wondering if Am wondering if you can give me any light on this subject.

Am making fine progress on the Lebanon Clarks - a good portion of whom went to New York State. Am much in hopes I can visit Easthampton next summer when I will show you the progress made so far.

Very truly yours,

F. M. Clark

Rufus Brown lived on land at the foot of Mt. Tom, opposite what is now Clark Street. He was thrown from his horse and died from the effects of the fall. His old Bible with family record, entered by himself, is still (1912) in existence. He was a grandson of Benjamin Janes, whose wife was scalped in the Pascommuck Massacre. His wife, Jerusha (Alexander) Brown, was a granddaughter of Mrs. Abigail (Pomeroy) Searle, wife of John Searle who was killed, while his wife, Abigail (Pomeroy) Searle, was tomahawked and left for dead the same day, May 13 1804 (O.S.)

Rufus Brown was a soldier in the Seven Years' War, the fourth French and Indian War. He was in Capt. Elisha Pomeroy's co., Col. Wm. Williams' regt., in 1758. Earlier he was in Capt. John Burk's co., but not in that part of the company included in the capitulation of Fort Wm. Henry.

In 1778 he served 3/4 month in the Northampton Militia, in Capt. Joseph Clapp's co. (See Judd MSS.)

Lt. Elisha Browne married Catherine Searle, S.A.R., who was carried captive to Canada, after the Indian Massacre at Pascommuck, when his father, John Searle, Jr., was killed and his mother, Mrs. Abigail Pomeroy Searle, was left for dead, although she, too, recovered. Later she married Nathaniel Alexander. Their son, Daniel Alexander, half-brother of Elisha Searle, since they had the same mother, was the father of Jerusha Alexander who married Rufus Brown, youngest brother of Lt. Silas Brown, both of whom were soldiers in the Revolution and brothers of Mrs. Uriel Clark, Mrs. Hannah (Brown) Clark.

Catherine Searle was sister of Rebecca Searle, Mrs. Zebadiah Alvord.

Remarks:--

Susan Lillian Clark gives date of death of Susannah Clark as Mar. 14 1813. In the History of Deaths at Northampton it states that Susannah Clark died there Mar. 14 1803.

WAS Nancy, Susannah or Sarah Clark married - their ages at death were respectively 23, 20 and 33 ? Susan Lillian also states: "One record states Sarah died Mar. 23 1820." Does she refer to Sarah, the dau. of Lyman Clark above, or Sarah the widow of Matthew Clark? In the History of Deaths at Northampton, I do not find any record on Mar. 23 1820 of the death of a Sarah Clark, so I should judge that Apr. 27 1827 as given by Susan was correct.

Capt. Philip Clark was a farmer at Easthampton, Mass; a soldier in the American Revolution; was one of the first school teachers in Easthampton. Although politically opposed to the majority of the voters, he was as prominent in town affairs as anyone. He was quite frequently chosen to preside on the deliberations of the town, and for a number of years filled the position of selectman with credit. He had quite a numerous posterity. Was one of the original members of the First Church at Easthampton and was its first clerk. Where he lived was Northampton until 1785, then Easthampton. First Church here was formed in Nov. 1785. He lived at Pascommuck.

Remarks:-

Sidney Lyman Clark moved to Hartford, Ct. and died there about 1900 or earlier. Susan Lillian Clark says: "He left one daughter (Susan Clark) unmarried) and I don't remember how many more, think he had one son. I remember my father attending the funeral held in Northampton - he had four children". Does Susan mean her father attended the funeral of Sidney Lyman Clark, or of his son; that Sidney had four children, or that this son had four children?

Four sons of Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Abigail (Ferry) Janes were soldiers in the American Revolution and all their graves are marked with SAR markers. All these were probably born in the old house, standing before the Pascommuck Massacre in which Samuel, then a lad of ten years, lived with his parents until the Indians destroyed the settlement. To this same house it is probable that he brought his young bride in 1717, the year of their marriage. This house being accidentally set on fire, was burned, and another large house, built in 1768, was standing until torn down in 1905. From this old house, then but recently built, Samuel Janes, who as a boy was left for dead by the Indians in May 1704, was carried out to his burial in 1776, just as the War of the Revolution was, as it were, just beginning. This Samuel Janes, a lad in 1704, was buried in East Street cemetery and Submit Clark Chapter, D.A.R. in 1912, placed at his grave a marker commemorating his eventful life. He it was who was the first person to begin the re-settlement of Pascommuck after the Massacre.

There have of course been several (many) cases of violence in the American Revolution and the whole process was marked with the violence. All those who were actually born in the Revolution standing before the American Revolution in their hands, that is the of the world, lived with the violence until the American Revolution the revolution. In this case there is a possibility that the violence the young wife in 1777, the year of their marriage. This young being revolutionarily in 1777, was taken, and married with her until in 1778, and married until she was in 1778. This was and house, that the revolution was, and she was a wife for left the land by the revolution in 1777, and married in 1777 period in 1777, that is the year of the revolution, in 1777 first revolution. The first revolution was in 1777, and was in that first revolution, and that first revolution was in 1777.
placed at the time of the revolution, and that first revolution it was also the first revolution in the revolution of revolutionary spirit was necessary.
